The food and fiber system, including production agriculture, is part of Wichita's past and is important to our future. Now there is a place where leaders of this industry can come together to facilitate growth and build awareness of their contributions to the region.....

Agri-Business Council of Wichita serves as a unique forum through which individuals, businesses and organizations involved in agriculture and related industries can get together and be heard. It is a place to discuss emerging issues and opportunities with fellow agricultural professionals, plans for educating government leaders, media, community and youth groups on the importance of agriculture. Most important, to collaborate on common goals that will help define the future of agriculture in our region.
